

Interac® Online Transaction Processing

Interac® Online Transaction Processing

INTERAC® Online is a newly introduced payment service allowing merchants to accept debit card transactions online. When your customers have finished making their selections and are proceeding to checkout their items, they are automatically directed to their financial institution's website to make the payment. Customers utilize their own online banking information to complete their purchases.

Admeris provides easy to implement INTERAC® Online solutions and low rates compared to other competitors. Give us a call at 1-866-854-9851 and one of our sales representatives will be happy to assist you!

Benefits of Interac® Online

- Lower Transaction Fees: Per transaction rates and fees are typically lower than credit cards and Paypal
- Increase Sales: Many people, especially younger customers, may not have credit cards. Others may not want to provide online merchants with their credit card numbers, and may not purchase from your site. However, these people will most likely have a bank account and debit card, and will be more comfortable supplying their information at a secure banking website
- Decrease Liabilities: You will never need to store or handle any customer confidential information
- Reduction in Chargebacks: As all transactions are authenticated at the customer's financial institution using their own banking information, the chances of chargebacks are almost non-existent

Bank Participation

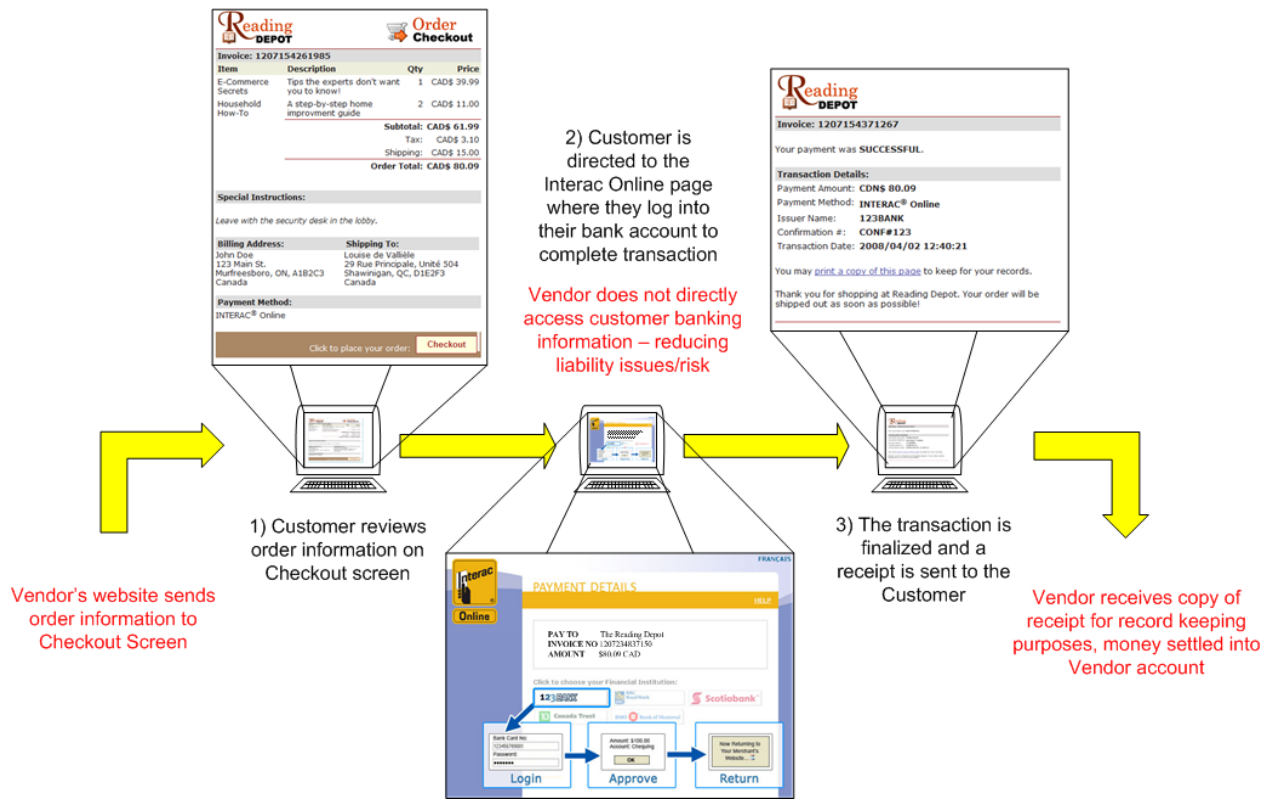

Currently Interac® Online services are offered to customers who bank at four of the largest banks in Canada: Royal Bank of Canada, Scotia Bank, TD Canada Trust, and Bank of Montreal. Customers with debit accounts at any of these banks will automatically be eligible to make purchases with Interac® Online through your site!

We are fully licensed by Interac® to process debit transactions online:
